BERLIN

NEW GROUND

With the 2016 Fly-out we break new ground as Berlin will be the base for the whole event.

There will be a nice balance between flying excursion and local sightseeing days with the comfort of staying in the same hotel throughout the event.

It is said that since the fall of the Wall, Berlin has become one of the most stimulating, creative and cultural centres in Europe. It is a city of many faces, known not only for its history, centre of business and power, but also as a party hub where festivities can go on for days. Thanks to the many green oases and the river Spree cutting through the city, combined with the restriction on high-rise, the metropolis feels open and spacious. Its main cultural and historical sights – from Museum Island and the Reichstag to Checkpoint Charlie and the Jewish Museum – are centrally located.

To get around, use the subway; it works well and is easy to use. The program gives you the possibility to explore the city and its many attractions. For further information explore the site.:

Something to do for everybody in Berlin.

PROGRAM

Saturday 16th

Arrival at Schöneghagen with your own plane. There will be two bus transfer to the hotel at 13:00 and at 16:00. By commercial flights arrive at either Tegel (TXL) or Schönefeld (SXF). Transfer to the Hotel by either bus or taxi.

Evening: "Get to know you dinner" Buffet and drinks at the hotel.

Sunday 17th

Boat cruise on the river Spree. A great way to see Berlin.

Afternoon and evening on your own, catch up with old friends, explore the culture and maybe the nightlife of Berlin.

Monday 18th

The flyers will depart the hotel at 9:00 to go by air from Schöneghagen to Grossenhain (EDAK). The airport is one of the oldest in Germany as it has been in operation since 1913. In 1945 the Russians took over until it was decommissioned in 1993. A number of old Russian planes are still on display. Grossenhain is also the home of the German flying museum, which has 19 airworthy planes . Some of these are also available for pleasure flights. Close by are also two bunkers which had been housing nuclear devices for the Russian fighter bombers stationed at the airport. Today they are converted into a small airport museum.

Lunch: Snack and then return to EDAAZ.

The non flyers will go by bus to Dom Brandenburg cathedral just outside Berlin.

Construction of today's cathedral began in the mid- 12th century. 2015 has marked its 850th jubilee. The origins of the precious art works range from the Middle Ages to the 20th century.

Later a visit to Gut Mötow where lunch is served at the heritage protected gastro-farm.

After lunch the coach will return to Berlin.

Join the flyers in the late afternoon for an evening exploring the city on your own.

Tuesday 19th

A very special treat as we are invited to visit the Bundeskanzleramt (The office of the German Chancellor Angela Merkel). The current Chancellery building opened in the spring of 2001 . It is built from concrete and glass in an essentially postmodern style, though some elements of modernist style are evident. Occupying 12,000 square meters (130.000 square feet), it is the largest government headquarters building in the world. By comparison, the new Chancellery building is ten times the size of the White House.

A semi official Chancellor apartment is located on the top floor of the building. The 200 square meter two-room flat has thus far only been occupied by Gerhard Schröder; current Chancellor Angela Merkel prefers to live in her private apartment in Berlin.

The afternoon is at your own disposal, e.g. visit the nearby Reichstag, which is restored and now again the seat of the Bundestag (Parliament).

Close by is also Brandenburger Tor, a must see in Berlin.

Evening : IFFR Casual Banquet Dinner at the Berlin Capital Club. Dress code: Smart casual.

The monumental airport terminal of Tempelhof.

Cecilienhof

Winston Truman & Stalin at the Postdam conference in 1945.

Wednesday 20th

The flyers will depart the hotel at 8:00 to go by air from Schönhagen to Anklam (EDCA) The airport was established in 1935 and has during the years been utilised in both WWII and since then as a base for crop-dusting operations. We will be meet by a bus which takes us to our destination Gutshaus Stolpe.

Located just ten kilometres from the historic town of Anklam. Hotel Gutshaus Stolpe is set in a carefully restored 19th century manor house estate, surrounded by ten hectares of beautiful parkland. It has been chosen as destination to show a well kept German manor and the nature in the northern area of Western Pomerania.

A lunch will be served before we return to the airport for our return flight to EDAAZ.

The non flyers have a day off to explore Berlin on their own. A separate list of suggested activities, attractions, shops to visit and sites to see will be available from our very own local IFFR agent.

In the evening the bus will leave from the hotel for our dinner appointment. at “Zur Linde” in Wildenbruch. Here we will meet up with the flyers. Zur Linde is set in a late 19th-century building in a rural village just a short ride outside Berlin.

Thursday 21st

All together for a tour of Tempelhof, also known as “The Mother of Airports”. Tempelhof was the most important airport in the big Air Lift, which saved the city from the attempted strangulation by Josef Stalin in 1948. During WWII the airport included an aircraft assembly site in the cellar and under the canopy roof. In 1945 the airport was turned over to United States Army 2nd Division which set up their command in the airport until it was given back to the city after the reunification. Tempelhof Airport closed all operations on 30 October 2008.

Afternoon and evening on your own.

Friday 22nd

The flyers depart the hotel at 8:00 to fly to Heringsdorf (EDAH) in the north close to the Polish border.

At the airport we will visit Hangar 10 which holds a WWII aircraft and activity museum.

Lunch: Snack and then return to EDAAZ

The non flyers will have a lazy morning. At 13:00 the bus will depart from the hotel and drive to Potsdam, the capital of the state of Brandenburg. Here there will be a guided tour of the House of State Parliament, a carefully restored 1662 baroque castle. It has over time served as winter residence for margraves and kings of Prussia as well as German emperors.

Later you will visit the Cecilienhof Palace. The place where the Potsdam conference between Churchill, Truman and Stalin took place in 1945.

At 18:00 Flyers and Non-flyers will meet at “Fischerhutte” for a “Gemütlich” farewell dinner.

Saturday 23rd

Departure at Schönhagen by your own plane.

By commercial from Tegel or Schönefeld.

Program may be subject to change

THE AIRPORT

IFFR Airport is the very friendly Schönghagen EDAZ.

Established already in the early 1920s it has an interesting history, having been both part of the start of aviation, to being the former East German aerobatic training site.

With the reunification the airport was given a new role as one of the GA airports serving Berlin.

Today it is a well equipped VFR airport. Located just a short stretch south west of Berlin with a long paved runway.

By 2016 hopefully it will also have an IFR GPS approach.

16th—23rd July for lots of fun.

Overseas flyers.

There will be available seats on the planes going out on the fly outs.

Please do let us know if you would like a ride and we will try to connect you to one of the captains.

Renting planes in Europe is not easy with a non European license. FAA licence holders may rent a N-reg. plane and fly that within Europe on their licence. There are however only a few companies renting out N-reg. planes.

Maximum number of participants is 80 persons.

Note:

Do remember your travel insurance.

Make sure it covers both medical conditions and cancellations.
